REMARKS

Applicant's counsel thanks the Examiner for the careful and thorough consideration given the application and for the very courteous telephone interview conducted on September 23, 1999. During the telephone interview we discussed the contents of the Advisory action mailed August 6, 1999. During the telephone interview it was agreed that applicant would consider filing another Declaration addressing the more detailed showing discussed in the Advisory action.

In connection with paragraph 4 of the Advisory action, it was agreed during the telephone interview that applicant would amend the specification by adding a brief description of the drawings as is set forth above. The bar graphs shown in new Figs. 7-1 and 7-2 correspond to the black streaks in original Figs. 7-1 and 7-2 and are being substituted for clarity. The Examiner agreed during the telephone interview that this would be acceptable.

In paragraph 1 of the Advisory action the Examiner takes the position that the product claims are considered to be anticipated by the prior art. The product claims claim a beverage having a measurably increased foam head stability achieved by adding hop
